Narrative Summary Detailing Program Success:

The first session of the six-part series, “Recognizing Trauma After an Overdose Fatality: Providing Support for Families,” was held on September 9, 2025, at the Wellness House. Heartlinks developed the marketing materials, including social media content and a press release that was featured by several local TV stations and the Yakima Herald-Republic. In addition, SUD providers, families, and community members helped spread awareness by sharing posts and distributing flyers at Overdose Awareness Day and throughout Yakima. All 14 registered participants attended, with many expressing that the session was highly beneficial. Heartlinks’ bilingual mental health professional facilitated the group, and plans are in place to continue offering six additional bilingual sessions following the completion of the initial series.
